Foreword

W. Somerset Maugham once wrote: "Each youth is like a child born in the night who sees the sun rise and thinks that yesterday never existed."

Surely, we must all sense the soundness of his words, for so often the wise advice of our elders, the voice of experience, has gone unheeded.

As we grow older and more aware of our intentions, however, we come to realize that the yesterdays of time have been lived that we might gain wisdom by the achievements and by the follies of others. Our paths have thus been made easier, our goals may now be set higher, our hopes more fully realized.

If we could but see into the future, we would realize how much the trials and successes of our high school days have shaped the courses of our lives. We may be content, nevertheless, to know that in the years to come, we may look into the past, back to the fruitful years of learning and the beginnings of lifelong friendships. Only then shall we fully grasp the significance of seemingly incidental happenings, the worth of sound advice, the comfort of an encouraging friend.

That we may remember - - - the 1951 "Huttlestonian" is herewith presented, with gratitude to the school we may always call "ours."

FAIRHAVEN HIGH SCHOOL

OFFICE OF THE PRINCIPAL

To the Class of 1951:

It is customary for people to refer to a school or college which they have attended as their alma mater. In English this expression means their fostering mother and suggests affection and guidance.

The love we feel for our mother is affection of a very high order, yet it is to this that we compare our fondness for the school. This is not mere lip service. Many a senior who has looked forward to graduation with joyous anticipation finds as the event draws near that he hates the thought of leaving. Generous class gifts, sacrificial donations to endowment and building funds, and attendance at alumni reunions even at considerable expense of time and money give further evidence that the love for school or college is a genuine emotion and a lasting loyalty.

To foster is to nourish and guide. Just as from our mothers we learn many of the fundamental lessons of life, so, too, from our school we may learn to respect honest work, to regard the welfare of others, and to recognize the necessity for high standards of conduct.

Work may be difficult, but without it nothing worthwhile can be accomplished. If we learn to take pride in accurate, honest work and in clear, sensible thinking, we shall be able to render valuable service and find enduring satisfactions in life.

In spite of all we may hear about selfishness which is always too common, concern for others is a very real thing and a part of our national heritage. "The noblest motive is the public good," we say, and we demonstrate it sometimes by personal gifts or service to help people in need; sometimes by our zeal for democracy and our willingness to hold office or to support those who have been elected to positions of power and leadership.

We have no course in morality or religion in our school, but you have been constantly confronted with high standards of conduct in classroom, on playing fields, and in club meetings. Daily you have been encouraged to be true to the faith you profess as you have joined your fellows in a common prayer and have listened to words of wisdom from an ancient book that has furnished men with moral standards and examples of noble living for generations.

We have been glad to have you here. We shall miss you when you are gone. I am sure that as you leave you will be conscious of a real affection for the old school and that you will know you are carrying with you lessons that need only to be applied to benefit you and all around you.

Sincerely,

CHESTER M. DOWNING

WORDS TO LIVE BY

"To be a philosopher is not merely to have subtle thoughts, nor even to found a school, but so to love wisdom as to live according to its dictates a life of simplicity, independence, magnanimity, and trust."

Henry David Thoreau

"There is a time in every man's education when he arrives at the conviction that envy is ignorance, that imitation is suicide; that he must take himself for better or worse as his portion; that though the universe is full of good, no kernel of nourishing corn can come to him but through his toil bestowed on that plot of ground which is given him to till."

Ralph Waldo Emerson

Junior Class Officers

Dear Mr. Dias,

We regret to inform you that although we have tried our utmost, we are unable at this time to submit for publication, a Junior Page. After many tedious hours of arduous endeavoring to produce a document suitable for promulgation, and after wearing out six volumes of Webster's unabridged, we have come to the conclusion that there are no adjectives to describe competently the illustrious members of that body of proficient and omniscient scholars, known in the lower circles, as the Junior Class. We were afraid that our vocabulary might be too demonstrative for the diminishing comprehensions of some of the upperclassmen, in which case we should have vehemently had to endeavor to express ourselves more explicitly.

Although we certainly wished to laud the Junior Class in vociferous terms, we were unable to be profound enough in our praise. However, we could have mentioned our musical geniuses, our up and coming virtuosos, our child prodigies, our outstanding class executives and future national leaders, and the committee from our College English Classes which is currently compiling a revised edition of "Who's Who in Fairhaven High School."

From our Business Division come our future C. P. A.'s and guiders of our nation's industries.

From the polished floors of our octangular gymnasium come such glittering stars as "Swisha" Xifaras and "Hooker" Honohan.

Buried among the hallowed shelves of our library we find such studious pursuers of higher learning as Karin Anderson and Judith Jenny.

While browsing through the art room, we discover such masterpieces as "Whistler's Uncle," by Patricia Sisson, "The First Breakfast," by Polly Field, and that great piece of sculpture, "Venus De Incho," by Dolores Souza. As you can perceive, a class with such accomplishments as these is not easily described.

Even though we surpass the present Senior Class in these fields, we feel sure that they are one of the finest classes to pass through the portals of Fairhaven High School.

In closing we wish to say that anyone can split an atom, but only a Junior can split an infinitive.

Regretfully yours,

Anthony Albert '52

To the Class of 1951:

We, the prosperous class of '53, wish to comment ironically but affectionately, of course, on the past misfortunes of the class of '51. This is to inform the remarkable '51'ers that we of '53 would not like to follow entirely in their footsteps. We should like to make a profit on our dances, have talent shows with talent, and have members on the "A" honor roll.

We do not intend, however, merely to point out '51's weak points, for we honestly feel that the denizens of Room 7 have virtues that far outnumber their defects. We have hopes that our own Paul Fitzgerald will become as great a sportsman as '51's Bart Leach and that our Marie Ehnes will follow successfully in the footsteps of '51's commendable and cheerful Barbara Strojny.

We wish, in any event, to extend our best wishes for happiness and success in all they strive for to the class of '51.

In closing, we should like to present our version of the perfect Sophomore:

	GIRL	BOY
Hair	Helen Joerger	Norman Benoit
Eyes	Jacqueline Chapman	Harry Richards
Smile	Marie Ehnes	Stephen Wong
Intellect	Betty Sylvia	Donald LeBlanc
Sweetness and kindness	Jane Leach	Paul Malcolm

Class History

Dear Diary,

As I leave Fairhaven High School, I find great pleasure in taking a backward glance over our many achievements as a class. When I first decided to keep a diary, I thought such an exercise would be a waste of time; but now, as I thumb through the various pages, I can relive the events of the last four years.

September 3, 1947 — Entered into this great institute of knowledge today and found looking for the different rooms to be a very confusing process, indeed. How shall I keep up the pace for four years? Wish me luck, diary!

September 30, 1947 — Today, under the able guidance of our advisor, Miss Mary Casey, we selected our class officers. A quick tabulation told us that Louis Shurtleff was president; Janet Augusta, vice-president; Philomena Duarte, secretary, and Judith Drake, treasurer.

March 23, 1948 — Our Freshman Dance! Gee, it was fun to see the Downings, the Woods, and Miss Casey watching our graceful classmates as they tripped "the light fantastic" around the colorfully-decorated gym.

June 17, 1948 — Joy pervaded our class today because we not only received our report cards, which announced that we were Sophomores, but we also were told that there were ten full weeks of vacation ahead of us.

September 8, 1948 — Back to the old grind once more, but it's a wonderful sight to see the familiar faces of our classmates, tanned and rested by the summer sun.

September 24, 1948 — Today, our able class advisor, Miss C. Eleanor Delaney, announced that our new class officers were Louis Shurtleff, president; Janet Augusta, vice-president; John Caton, secretary, and Barton Leach, treasurer.

November 18, 1948 — Tonight, we co-sponsored a dance that proved to be a great success — the Senior-Sophomore Fall Hop. The gym was packed with our dancing classmates, who enjoyed an evening of tuneful entertainment.

December 16, 1948 — Some of our more talented classmates assembled today and presented a highly original talent show. The setting was Cox's Ice Cream Parlor, with "Red" George portraying the genial Joe Cox. Incidentally, Mr. Cox donated the ice cream, cake, coke, popcorn, and other refreshments we used on the stage.

March 20, 1949 — Today, our great basketball team went to the Boston Garden to compete in the Eastern Massachusetts Class B Tournament. Although our boys were defeated by a meager two points, they played an excellent game, led by three of our athletic classmates — Bart Leach, Louis Shurtleff, and Norris Drew.

June 19, 1949 — Just think, we now have completed half of our high school days. After a relaxing summer, we shall be back, en masse, to drive the poor teachers a step nearer their graves.

September 7, 1949 — Back again — as full-fledged Juniors!

October 7, 1949 — The bulletin announced the following as our class officers: Barton Leach, president; Louis Shurtleff, vice-president; Milton George, secretary, and John Caton, treasurer. It seems as if the boys must really be the better leaders.

October 28, 1949 — Again, we have done it — astounded the entire student body with our spectacular talent show. Our setting was a ski lodge, and the performance featured such talents as Betty Bartlett, Betty Green, Kate Hanley, and, of course, "Red" George.

March 24, 1950 — Tonight, we made little old Fairhaven High School the proudest little school in the country, for our basketball team, undefeated all season and led by our able class president, Bart Leach, walked out of the Boston Garden as the Class B champions! What an honor! What a team!

March 31, 1950 — We did it again! Tonight, we defeated Westerly, R. I., the Class B champions of our neighboring state. Unofficially, this makes us Class B champions of New England. Because three of the first team's players — Bart Leach, Louis Shurtleff, and Norris Drew — are members of our class, we are overjoyed.

April 29, 1950 — Yes, tonight was the night — our Junior Prom. The auditorium was gaily decorated with fish, octopuses, and even fish nets to give the appearance of Neptune's Ballroom. The lilting music of Louis Queen's orchestra accompanied Joan Crompton, one of our drum majorettes, to her throne, where she was crowned Queen of the Prom. Her attendant was Anna Dufresne.

June 16, 1950 — Junior Day — and what a day! After Bart Leach accepted the mantle, "Red" George and Larry Bangs put those Seniors exactly where they belonged by telling how great our Juniors are. To climax the day, we again hired Louis Queen's orchestra for our Junior Day Dance, to which we invited the Seniors. We gave them a wonderful time, but they were puzzled as to whether Room 7 would be in good hands next year. How stupid!

June 20, 1950 — Once again, I have to say goodbye to my dear schoolmates with the realization that I shall return only once more. As the Seniors receive their diplomas, a melancholy air descends on every Junior in the auditorium, for he knows that he soon will be filling the place vacated by one of these students clad in scholarly robes.

September 6, 1950 — Back for my last first day. As I take my seat in Room 7, I can almost hear Mr. Lawton groan, for he knows we are too ambitious a class to settle down. Although most of our old friends are here, there are two notable absences because two of our former class officers have left us — John Caton, to enter a novitiate, and Louis Shurtleff to attend prep school.

September 20, 1950 — Miss Delaney announced our class officers for our last year. Here they are: Barton Leach, president; Milton George, vice-president; Carol Fisher, secretary, and Pearl Samaska, treasurer. I see we finally have women in our student government.

September 23, 1950 — Today, Mr. Dias appointed our HUTTLESTONIAN staff. Headed by editor-in-chief Margery Greenfield, the staff promised to produce the best yearbook that F. H. S. has ever known. How can they miss with a class like ours?

November 15, 1950 — "Come to the Fair" was the theme of our great talent show. Gaily-colored balloons bedecked the stage as our talented classmates, led by Anna Dufresne and Kate Hanley, presented a magnificent show.

The year is still young, and we are looking forward to many more accomplishments — such as our annual Senior play, another thrilling basketball tournament, our unforgettable Senior Prom, and, most memorable of all, our graduation.

As you read this brief record of a few of our achievements, and as you watch us receive our diplomas, you will wish us success and happiness in the tasks we attempt in the great world beyond the friendly portals of our beloved F. H. S.

Class Will

The Office of What You Will
Fairhaven, Massachusetts
March 13, 1951

To Whom It May Concern;

While browsing through the pages of our most sacred remains, you may chance upon this letter which legally distributes our personal property to fortunate, but utterly helpless individuals, who have the sympathy of the brilliant, kind-hearted and charitable students of the SENIOR CLASS.

Thus, by the aid of Congress and a special amendment to the Constitution, we, the mighty Seniors, leave the following;

ITEM 1 — To the teachers, — (literally speaking) the Class leaves all those "pleasant memories" of tarred and feathered student bodies, beaten with lead mallets in aftersession.

ITEM 2 — Bob McCarthy bequeaths his muscular build to "Georgeous" George Harrington, who has acquired the new name of "Hippo Harry".

P. S. To prepare "Hippo" for the ring, we have taken it upon ourselves to supply him with a life-time plate of "Meatballs."

ITEM 3—Janice Tripp leaves her luscious blond curls to Harriet Garcia, with a supply of John's curler socks.

ITEM 4—Barton Leach leaves his basketball shorts to David Hassett, "who," we assuredly say, "will be arrested for indecent exposure."

ITEM 5 — Bill Hawkes wills the back seat of any car, after any dance, to any boy or girl who promises to avoid West Island.

ITEM 6 — Eleanor Baker leaves the back seat ----- PERIOD.

ITEM 7 — Leonard Garcia calmly bestows on Russell Arruda, his persistent way with women!

ITEM 8 — Betsy Winslow and Marion Smith leave the locker room and a collection of ash trays to be installed therein.

ITEM 9 — Ann Hathaway provides free delivery service to and from school, on condition that you have patience enough to wait until she finds the keys.

- ITEM 10 — Phil Harding, Joseph Saladino and Arthur Boucher leave their affection for erasers, to three Junior boys. The erasers, incidentally, are more effective when used as baseballs.
- ITEM 11 — Millie Benoit and Teresa Borowicz will their special system for checking History answers, to all Juniors who want an easy way out.
- ITEM 12 — June Mullett sadly bequeaths Vernon Gomes, to Joan Worthington, who'll give him motherly care while June's away.
- ITEM 13 — David Sweet wills his unearthly ability to sway votes and organize effective "political machines."
- ITEM 14 — To any unsuspecting Junior, Pearl Samaska leaves the English language and all her English homework.
- ITEM 15 — Norris Drew leaves to the basketball squad a portable bed, which may be unfolded on the basketball court during a lull in the game.
- ITEM 16 — "Twinkle Toes" Hansen leaves his skillful dancing techniques (which were displayed in the Senior Talent Show) to Dan Walsh, who could have used them in the Junior Talent Show!
- ITEM 17 — Barbara Strojny leaves Marie Ehnes a carton of cough drops, cough medicine, anti-histamines, and throat spray, to be used after next year's tournament.
- ITEM 18 — Sylvia Carlos bequeaths all her Huttlestonian drawings to the Junior Class, who could sure use her talents.
- ITEM 19 — Kate Hanley offers a book on how to dance, to those "underclassmen" who required her coaching for their Show. As you can see, folks, you can't get along without Seniors!!
- ITEM 20 — Margie Greenfield leaves a supply of aspirins and pep pills, to be taken by next year's yearbook Editor.
- ITEM 21 — Bill Mullarkey wills all the love scenes in the Senior Play to Bob McMullen, and hopes that Bob gets as much out of them as Bill did.
- ITEM 22 — The Senior members of the Student Council leave Paul Fitzgerald a life-time supply of Van Camp's food, to be used, exclusively, as between meal snacks.
- ITEM 23 — To Miss Libbey the business students leave a tin can, in which she may store away all the pennies collected for erasers and elastics.

ITEM 24 — To Miss Delaney, the class of 1951 leaves one, stiff cupcake, in memory of all our wonderful cake sales.

ITEM 25 — To Mr. Lawton the class bequeaths the telephone number of the Salvation Army, so that he may get rid of the public address systems willed to him in other years.

ITEM 26 — Carol Fisher leaves her gym suit to Anita Cornell. Happy swimming, dear!!

The following books, having been banned in Boston, are to be placed in the school library:

"The Last Drag"	Sylvia Sherman
"My Friend, Al Cohol"	David Sameiro
"Going Steady"	Judith Drake
"Better Late than Never"	Daniel Dunwoodie
"Tales of Elizabeth"	Milton "Herbert" George
"My Last (Lost) Weekend"	Walt "Diamond Horseshoe" Silveira
"Richard, the First"	Carol Longmore
"The Case of the Transparent Bubbles"	Muriel Converse
"Tales"	Sandra MacMahon
"The Kissless Party"	Ellen Spooner
"George ! ! ! !"	Joan Crompton
"Sparkle Plenty"	Ann Reece
"Moseying Up to the Corral"	Larry Bangs
"The Tales of Dexter"	Mary O' Leary
"Frank En Stein"	Lucy Folger
"The Case of the Broken Leg"	Herb Valerio

These books, though publicly condemned by authorities, have been read and approved by the noted literary critic, Kevin Cadieux, who, when questioned on their quality, said, "Ver-ry Good!!!"

Thus, upon much thinking, we decide to bring to a close our last will and testament, appointing Sam, the janitor, as executor of this, the testament of the Class of 1951.

For the benefit of the Tinkhamtown Ladies' Aid Society, program chairman Sylvia Carlos and Cecilie Cornell have arranged a square dance to be held in the newly-renovated barn of Miss Betty Corcoran. Music by the Merry Melodiers — Fanny Duarte, Eleanor King, Bill Hawkes, Phyllis Govoni, and Priscilla Gurl; caller, Norman Benoit.

The celebrated duo, Norman Hansen and Paul Lambi, who have just returned from a concert tour of Siberia, will embark on an advertising campaign to endorse the originals of Alfred Haslam, noted bow-tie designer. The Haslam fashion notes for spring are on display at Herbie-and-Herbie Haberdashers (Valerio and Chaston, owners).

Larry Bangs has recently offered to the world his latest planet ship, piloted by Bob McCarthy and James Pasquill.

The wedding yesterday morning of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Saladino, Jr. (the former Elizabeth Goulart) was performed at the Damm Hotel (owned by our old friends, Lorraine and Germaine). Attendants were Luey Folger, Patricia Negus, Evelyn Gracia, and Vivian Richards. The entertainment for the affair, which was arranged by Muriel Converse, consisted of Joan Crompton, who twirled; Miss Betty Green, who sang "Over the Hills to the Poor Farm," and Joyce Marra, who did backbends.

First Lieutenant Dorothy Stevenson has recently returned by air from Turkey where she has been in command of a unit of army nurses. Pilot and co-pilot of the Pat Brennan (B-29 named after the famous heroine of the Afghanistan beach-head) were Janet Cayton and Eleanor Sylvia, who won the Lanthier-Lipinski Transcontinental Race sponsored by the multi-millionaire, Miss Hilda Anne Staffiere.

Miss Beatrice Martin, president of the North End Helping Hand Society, has announced that the guest speaker at the next meeting will be Senator David Sweet. The Misses Dorothy Portway and Lily Kristiansen will pour.

Miss Marjorie Pacheco, Dean of Women at Bryant College, announces a contest to determine the graduating class' outstanding typist. Judges will be Theresa Borowicz, Mildred Benoit, Evelyn Borges, and Dorothy Gill. The $2.00 award will be presented by last year's title-holder, Carol Shute.

Kate Hanley is the new director of the Cuttyhunk Playhouse. The first production of the season, a minstrel show, will star Ellen Spooner and Vernon Robinson as end men; Barbara Strojny and Janice Tripp in a specialty; Barbara Sylvia, Barbara Darezzo, Emily Soares, and Lillian Halle in a quartet; Rita Silva as interlocutor, and Marian Smith as curtain-puller.

Guests this week at the Brandt Island Club (the best in sports equipment) were taken on a cruise to Crow Island by manager Elaine Herrick. Members of the boating party were Mary Monteiro, Margery Macomber, and Elizabeth Martin. Robert Wood assisted Miss Herrick at the oars.

Miss Janet Clement has opened a yarn shop. Special-knit sweaters for the New Bedford football team are among the chief attractions. Chief purler is Anita Moquin, assisted by Eleanor Johnson. Lost stitches hunted by Betty Bartlett.

Senior Play

It was 7:59 on March 16, 1951. One minute till curtain time. The tenseness grew as we paced back and forth, back and forth, then to and fro for variety. "Big Hearted Herbert" was about to become one of the best productions Fairhaven has ever witnessed.

Suddenly my nerves cracked and I blacked out. Then the whole ten weeks of rehearsing flashed before me.

It all started a few days before Christmas when we saw that picture of Miss Hoyle posted on the bulletin board with her finger pointing straight at us. It bore the caption, "I Need You Now. Volunteers report to room 22 after school."

Nine boys tried out for the seven parts and 2 stage hand positions. A little math shows that no one was slighted.

When the girls were tested, it was quite a contrast. Hundreds of the female species were on hand to offer their services. The males were on hand to assist in the reading.

For nearly three hours we sat reading and listening. Then we came to Lawrence Robinson's first line. Swollen with pride, he started to read: "Now — —"

"All right," interrupted Miss Hoyle, "that's enough for today."

We enjoyed his presence, anyway.

Shortly after, Christmas rehearsals began. They were slow and quiet at first, but in a short time we changed that. It started with "The Case of the Missing Shoes."

Bob McCarthy somehow became separated from his shoes. (It was a hard work but we finally got them.) It wasn't long before one of them was winging its way from the auditorium window to a large sized puddle below. We all tried desperately to stop it before it became moistened. Needless to say we arrived too late.

How the other shoe got wet we never knew, but for one afternoon Bob had a rather succulent pair of shoes.

The next day a brown hat resembling those worn by Hopalong, the Cisco Kid, and the rest of the boys, crept into rehearsal. Janet Augusta, being a rabid fan of Roy Rogers, or some other Texan, hoisted the chapeau to her cerebellum, bowed her legs, and began to recite that immortal poem beginning: "I like the wide open spaces, out where the Cactus grows," Miss Hoyle, apparently thinking this to be below our intellect, intimated in a rather convincing manner, that she would prefer silence.

Martha Johnson surprised us all. She turned out to be the gambler of the group and tried desperately to lure us into a game of chance. Of course, we bluntly refused. (We had been cleaned out by the stagehands, Phil Harding and Dan Dunwoodie previously).

Betsy Winslow kept us well supplied with stories. We were laughing at her most of the time.

Larry Bangs brought a small instrument similar to a piccolo with him one day. With Arthur Boucher, who used a yard stick to represent a flag, and Dave Sweet, who improvised a drum, they formed "The Spirit of '76." Through the corridors they limped, past the doors to the auditorium and up the eighth grade stairs. All the time the clear, euphonious melody of "Yankee Doodle" pervaded the quiet halls. Just how Miss Hoyle knew what was going on is still a mystery.

It was the day after this that our rehearsal was delayed because of music lessons. The last strains of the trumpet died out, and we heard Mr. Gonsalves leave. The rehearsal promptly commenced. About 5 minutes later it was surrendered to a drum and xylophone duet. Miss Hoyle immediately inquired as to the source and was informed that another lesson was being given. We were surprised to learn that Barbara Strojny had started giving drum lessons especially to Betsy. By some odd quirk of nature the lesson was finished immediately preceding Miss Hoyle's inquiry.

Eleanor Baker and Bill Mullarkey would occasionally (every 5 or 10 minutes) get to looking at one another and forget their lines. Bill later told us that he could have gotten the romantic scenes better, but he enjoyed that part of the rehearsal and wanted to do it as much as possible.

During the ten week period hardly a day passed that someone didn't buy jelly beans. Every day a different person would buy them, but the consuming was always done by the same person — Carol Terry. The exact number she consumed will never be known, but we are sure that only in Math 12 do we deal with such large numbers.

I could feel someone trying to revive me now and my head began to clear. One last recollection came back. I could remember what had brought us to all the rehearsals. It was half to stay on the good side of Miss Hoyle and partly to see whether or not Red George and Judy Drake would be speaking. We of the cast concluded that they looked for differences in opinions just to make up again later.

I was fully recovered now and could hear the curtain opening. Presently the play had begun.

Now that the play is over we realize who did the most work. Not only did she do a fine job of directing, keep us somewhat disciplined, but also after living together for ten weeks we were all still speaking to each other. We hope that Miss Hoyle realizes how much we appreciated her assistance and will be thankful for it in years to come.

Organizations

SYLVIA CARLOS

Honor Society

The Fairhaven High School Chapter of the National Honor Society, established in 1927, was founded on the four ideals of Scholarship, Leadership, Character, and Service. In January of each year, students who have been able to meet the high requirements of scholarship and character are initiated into the Society in an impressive ceremony. While holding a flaming torch and a shield, the emblems of the Society, the candidates promise to uphold the standards of the organization. In June, the new officers are installed.

Officers for 1950-51 are Pearl Samaska, President; Mary O'Leary, Vice-President; Lawrence Robinson, Secretary, and Cecilie Cornell, Treasurer. Other members are Eleanor Baker, Elizabeth Bartlett, Barbara Darezzo, Phyllis Govoni, Margery Greenfield, Carlene Lanthier, Carol Longmore, Edith Marra, James Pasquill, Ellen Rogers, Ellen Spooner, and David Sweet, Seniors. Anthony Albert, Gail Cheetham, Dorothy Leitao, Barbara Long, Louise Lopes, and Patricia Sisson, Juniors.

Mary O'Leary, '51

Student Council

During the year, the Student Council, under the direction of its adviser, Mr. Earl J. Dias, has more than adhered to the purpose of the organization.

As representatives of the student body, Council members have assisted in the management of the school's activities, fostered good school spirit, encouraged all pupils to conduct themselves as worthwhile school citizens, and, in general, helped to develop a spirit of democracy in the student body.

One of the Council's many projects was the establishing of a Student Court, in which student offenders were judged by members of the Council for their misdemeanors.

A large delegation, headed by David Sweet, President; Carol Fisher, Vice-President, and Pearl Samaska, Secretary-Treasurer, attended the annual fall convention in Sharon and will attend the spring convention in Dartmouth later in the year.

Pearl Samaska, 51

Key Club

The Key Club of Fairhaven High School, one of seven-hundred such organizations in this country and Canada, is an active group of boys from the three upper classes. Patterned after and sponsored by the New Bedford Kiwanis Club, its motto is "We Build" and its object is service to the school.

This year's activities have included helping to prepare a three-day exhibit of prize photographs and the selling of soft drinks and candy at basketball games. Profits from this latter venture will be used, in part, for a worthwhile school project and to help send a delegate to the national convention in Miami, Florida, in June.

The Key Club's faculty adviser is Principal Chester M. Downing. Its officers are the following: President, James Pasquill; Vice-President, Russell Arruda; Secretary, Anthony Albert, and Treasurer, Robert McCarthy.

Carol Fisher, 51

Allied Youth

A new and very active organization in Fairhaven High School is Allied Youth, a national club founded for the purpose of discovering the truth about alcoholic beverages and their effect on young people.

The club consists of fifty-four hard working boys and girls under the guidance of Mr. Raymond Boyce, the faculty adviser. Officers of the new organization are David Sameiro, President; Constance George, Vice-President; Carol Fisher, Secretary, and Arthur Boucher, Treasurer.

The chief project for the year is to obtain funds for the treasury through a series of social activities. Best wishes to a zealous group of idealistic young people who certainly will attain their goal.

Glee Clubs

Vocal Ensemble-Monday Group

Again this year, the musical organizations of the high school have afforded many opportunities for listening to some pleasant and enjoyable music.

The Boys' Glee Club and the Girls' Glee Club have met this season under the capable direction of Mrs. Marguerite Johnson, supervisor of vocal music. The groups performed at the Christmas assembly, for several organizations, and are looking forward to participating in the spring festivals.

Carol Longmore '51

Vocal Ensemble

Vocal Ensemble-Friday Group

Our active Vocal Ensemble, a large organization of members, has been divided this year into two groups, one meeting on Mondays and the other meeting Fridays.

It started its busy schedule with an informal concert on "Open House" night here at school. Later in the year, Margery Greenfield and Robert McMullen will represent the ensemble at the Worcester All-State Festival, and, as in past years, the whole Vocal Ensemble will attend the State and New England Music Festivals, where they hope to attain ratings equal to the fine ones of the past.

This year's ensemble has been a successful one, with a large percentage of Seniors present. The popular Girls' and Boys' Choruses have also had several Senior members, and are hopeful of attending the Spring Music Festivals along with the ensemble.

National Music Week, a concert by the Vocal Department of the entire town, another at the Newport Naval Hospital, as well as graduation and the Baccalaureate Service will surely find our talented choruses in best of form, thanks to our able director, Mrs. Johnson.

Margery Greenfield '51

Orchestra

The fifty-three talented instrumentalists of this outstanding group have practiced diligently to retain the high standards set by the commendable ensembles of years past. At this writing, the orchestra is displaying excellent form.

The orchestra frequently plays at assemblies and special performances such as the Christmas Pageant, the Senior Play, Junior Day, and Commencement exercises.

This year, as in the last two seasons, seven members of the organization are preparing for a delightful and profitable excursion to Worcester to play with the enormous All-State Orchestra.

The entire orchestra, of course, is looking forward to the enjoyable New England Music Festival, which will be held in Boston this year for the first time. We all confidently expect these fine musicians to bring back to F. H. S. an "A" rating!

Margery Greenfield '51

Senior Band

During the year 1950—1951, the band has again maintained the high standards achieved by past bands. Miss Hastings, assisted by Mr. Gonsalves, has led the organization as it performed at summer band concerts, football games, parades, various assemblies, and the Pops Concert.

The fifty-three members again have been striving to build up the instrument fund. Tag Day this year was very successful, with nearly $570 being collected. The consession at football games was again opened. With the aid of several interested organizations, the band was able to purchase a trombone and two sousaphones.

The band again this year is looking forward to attending the State Festival in Weymouth and the New England Festival in Boston.

This group is an organization of which our school can be justly proud!

Le Cercle Français

Cette année le cercle français sous la direction de Madame Dionne et de M. Noyes se reunit le dernier lundi de chaque mois. Un conférencier ou un invité quelqueconque sert à rendre les réunions d' autant plus intéressantes.

La musique française ranime aussi nos assemblées—c'est la vie d'un grand compositeur qui nous est présentée ou un chef d' oeuvre qui nous est interprété par l'un de nos membres.

Vers la fin, nous mêlons toujours nos voix pour y pénétrer dans notre petit recueil de chansons; c' est là qu' on entend "Auprès de ma blonde," "J' ai perdu le do de ma clarinette," "Alouette," "Chevaliers de la table ronde," ou d' autres airs favoris.

ATHLETICS

Football

When the season started, Coaches Entin and Clement had the tough job of finding replacements for the nine Seniors who graduated last spring. Therefore, little was expected of this year's squad. As the season went along, though, the team improved greatly and compiled a respectable 4 won, 3 lost record.

The season opened with a surprising 14-7 win over a veteran Coyle team. Next came the bruising game with N. B. Vocational which was lost in the last five minutes 13-0. The next three games resulted in 9-0, 18-0, and 13-0 victories over Attleboro, Barnstable, and Falmouth respectively. These "shutouts" can be attributed to the fine play of the line. The traditional game with New Bedford, which was played on rain soaked Sargent Field, was lost 13-0, and the season ended with a 19-18 loss to Taunton.

Barton Leach '51

Baseball

When last season opened in early April, Coach Alec Clement had eight lettermen with whom to form the foundation of his club. The biggest problem, though, was the pitching staff which had only one experienced hurler in Tony Costa. Fortunately, Bill Rowland, a small right-hander, came along quickly and aided the team greatly, especially in late-inning relief stints.

The team went along in commendable style, defeating such clubs as Providence Country Day, Dartmouth, Wareham, Barnstable, New Bedford, and Holy Family. Finally, the team was invited to participate in the Eastern Massachusetts Small Schools Tournament, where the club won a 7-6 thriller from Prevost. In the semi-finals, however, Fairhaven was defeated by Cohasset in an eleven-inning hair raiser.

Aside from the pitching of Costa and Rowland, the hitting and fielding of Kevin Cadieux and Leo Battistelli were also praiseworthy.

Barton Leach '51

Editor's note: The above refers to the 1950 baseball team. The HUTTLESTONIAN goes to press at too early a date for inclusion of the 1951 baseball squad.

Cheerleaders

Offering their support to Fairhaven High School's varsity teams were the seven vivacious cheerleaders of Fairhaven High School, who led the student body in rousing cheers for victory. They worked enthusiastically to maintain a commendable school spirit and to spur on the team to some well-deserved victories.

Last year, the veteran cheerleaders, with the exception of one, entered the annual Cheerleaders' Tournament in Spencer to compete with twenty-two other schools. The Fairhaven squad was given third place honors and was awarded an attractive trophy.

1951 CLASS "B" CHAMPIONS

Basketball

The opening day of basketball tryouts saw 92 candidates greet Coach Entin. This sounds like a great turnout, but, as fate would have it, many of the boys were too small to compete in varsity basketball. This did not mean, however, that these boys did not have a great deal of promise. A fifteen man Freshman team was formed and, under the leadership of Coach Clement, held its own in the Cape Gateway League.

Mr. Entin faced the task of finding four capable men to replace such stars as Lou Shurtleff, Johnnie Hennessey, Dick Norman, and George Graves who played on last season's undefeated (25-0) team.

The team started out well, winning thirteen games in a row, and stretching the win streak to thirty eight games. Highlights of these games were upset victories over New Bedford 50-42, N. B. Vocational 67-55, and a power-laden Taunton team 57-42. The team was then beaten 47-40 by a very good Coyle High aggregation.

With a record of 16-1, we were invited to the Eastern Massachusetts Basketball Tournament. Playing great team ball all the way through, we won this tournament. The win in the finals was called by some the upset of the tournament, this being a 64-48 win over undefeated (25-0) favored Matignon High School of Cambridge. Vern Gomes and Bob Honohan, two so called "yearlings", paced the team in the tournament and were selected on the All-Tournament Team.

The team ended the season by soundly beating Lancaster N. H. High, New Hampshire Class B champs 77-40. The final record was 20-1.

A wealth of credit goes to Mr. Entin for the great job that he did with the team this year. Many people think only of the team when a 20-1 record is compiled, but without the strategy and leadership of Mr. Entin, the record of the team would not have been so good.

Bart Leach, '51

(Editor's note: Due to the modesty of "Big Bart," his writeup has failed to mention the "trivial" part that he himself played in this season's success. Briefly, Bart was nothing short of sensational all season long, amassing a season score of 528 points, a 3 year total of 1,239. In the final tourney game, Bart sank 37 points, the highest offensive output of his career, and along with Honohan and Gomes, was made a member of the All-Tourney Team.)

Girls Basketball

Continuing its third season in the Narragansett League, the girls' basketball squad is striving valiantly to maintain the high standards it has set in past years. The schedule is a demanding one, but morale is high, and, thus far, the girls have been giving a good account of themselves.

This year's most important games are the contests with New Bedford, Westport, and New Bedford Vocational.

Good luck, girls, to you and to your capable coach, Mrs. Sullivan

Barbara Strojny, '51

G. A. A.

With the help of Mrs. Ann Sullivan, its capable faculty adviser, the G. A. A. has kept active in organizing such various sports groups as basketball, softball, and tennis teams. The organization also undertook the selling of candy and other refreshments during the football season.

At the close of the school year, awards are given to the girls who have earned a specific number of points for athletic achievements. The Senior who has earned eighty points or more also is given a special award.

The officers of the G. A. A. are the following: Anna Dufresne, President; Carol Scott, Vice-President; Lorraine Damm, Secretary; Sandra MacMahon, Treasurer, and Marion Smith, Social Chairman.
